TYPES OF PROJECTS FUNDED UNDER THIS PROGRAM

- Short-Term Seminars

A short-term seminar is designed to help integrate international studies into an institution's or school system's general curriculum. Seminars normally are five (5) weeks in length and focus on a particular aspect of area studies, such as, for example, the culture of the area or a portion of the culture.

- A Curriculum Development Team

A curriculum development team composed of several faculty members or teachers or administrators, may spend five to eight (5-8) weeks in a foreign country or region acquiring resource materials for curriculum development in the modern foreign language or area studies programs. Resource materials may include artifacts, documents, books, educational films, museum reproductions, recordings, and other instructional materials. The project shall provide a systemic use and dissemination in the U.S. of the acquired materials.

- Group Research or Study Projects

A group research or study project is designed to permit a group of faculty from institutions of higher education and graduate and undergraduate students to undertake research or study in a foreign country or region for a period of two to twelve(2-12) months. The institution should make arrangements for any clearances or affiliations necessary for conduction research in the host country. The participants must have the requisite language proficiency. In addition, the disciplinary competence of the participants should be correlated with their research topics.

- Advanced Overseas Intensive Language

An advanced overseas intensive language project is designed to take advantage of the opportunities present in the foreign country by providing intensive advanced foreign language training. Language training shall be given at the advanced level, i.e., at the level equivalent to that provided to students who have successfully completed at least two academic years of language training. The language to be studied shall be indigenous to the host country and maximum use shall be made of local institutions and personnel. Under the grant, an advanced overseas intensive language project period may range up to three years. Project activities may be carried out during a full year, an academic year, a semester, a trimester, a quarter or a summer. The U.S. institution may enter into a cooperative arrangement with a foreign institution whereby the latter will provide institutional facilities and other forms of assistance.

FINANCIAL PROVISIONS

The grant does not provide funds for project-related expenses within the United States.

Grant funds may be used only for the following:

- a maintenance stipend based on fifty percent of the amount established in the U.S. Department of State publication, "Maximum Travel Per Diem Allowances For Foreign Areas";
- round-trip international travels;
- a local travel allowance for necessary project-related transportation within the country of study, exclusive of the purchase of transportation equipment;

- rent for instructional facilities in the country of study;
- clerical and professional services performed by resident instructional personnel in the country of study; and

BUDGET INFORMATION

Federal funds under the Fulbright-Hays Group Projects Abroad program are provided only for foreign expenses. Current maintenance allowances for project participants are contained on pages C21-30. Rules establishing these rates are found in Section 664.4 of the Regulations. Since all funded project activities occur in foreign countries, no indirect charges are paid under the program.

Applicants are requested to provide an itemized budget, showing both Federal funds and non-Federal contributions. Applicants under the advanced overseas intensive language category must provide an itemized budget for each year for the total grant period requested. EVALUATION OF EXCHANGE, LANGUAGE, INTERNATIONAL and AREA STUDIES (EELIAS) and CONTINUATION AWARDS

EVALUATION OF EXCHANGE, LANGUAGE, INTERNATIONAL and AREA STUDIES (EELIAS) and CONTINUATION AWARDS

On August 25, 2000, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approved the EELIAS electronic reporting system. The online system enables the Office of International Education and Graduate Programs Service (IEGPS) to collect comparable performance information and project data for the fourteen Title VI and Fulbright-Hays programs it administers.

How does this affect you, the applicant? If your project is awarded in FY 2003 under the Fulbright-Hays Group Projects Abroad program grant, you will be required to submit your project performance report using EELIAS. The performance report will assist IEGPS program officers in determining whether the Advanced Overseas Intensive Language project is making progress toward meeting the approved project objectives and whether making continuation awards are in the best interest of the federal government.

The EELIAS reporting instrument includes sections for grantees to input data and information that respond to the Government Performance and Results Act (GPRA).

AMENDMENTS

To request a change or amendment, explain the reason for the changes. If the scope or objectives have changed or an extension of time is necessary, explain the circumstances and justify. (EDGAR-Subpart L)

Important Notice to Prospective Participants in U.S. Department of Education Contract and Grant Programs

Grants

Applicants for grants from the U.S. Department of Education (ED) have to compete for limited funds. Deadlines assure all applicants that they will be treated fairly and equally, without last minute haste. For these reasons, ED must set strict deadlines for all grant applications. Prospective applicants can avoid disappointment if they understand that:

Failure to meet a deadline will mean that an application will be rejected without consideration.

The rules, including the deadline, for applying for each grant are published, individually, in the Federal Register. A one-year subscription to the Register may be obtained by sending $340.00 to: Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402-9371. (Send check or money order only, no cash or stamps)

The instructions in the Federal Register must be used. Do not accept any other advice. No ED employee is authorized to extend any deadline published in the Register.

Questions regarding submission of applications may be addressed to:

U.S. Department of Education
Application Control Center
Washington, DC 20202-4725

Contracts

Competitive procurement actions undertaken by ED are governed by the Federal Procurement Regulations and implementing ED Procurement Regulation.

Generally, prospective competitive procurement actions are synopsisized in the Commerce Business Daily (CBD). Prospective offers are therein advised of the nature of the procurement and where to apply for copies of the Request for Proposals (RFP).

Offers are advised to be guided solely by the contents of the CBD synopsis and the instructions contained in the RFP. Questions regarding the submission of offers should be addressed to the Contracts Specialist identified on the face page of the RFP.

Offers are judged in competition with others and failure to conform with any substantive requirements of the RFP will result in rejection of the offer without any consideration whatever.

Do not accept any advice you receive that is contrary to instructions contained in either the CBD synopsis or the RFP. No ED employee is authorized to consider a proposal which is non-responsive to the RFP.

A subscription to the CBD is available for $208.00 per year via second class mailing of $261.00 per year via first class mailing. Information included in the Federal Acquisition Regulation is contained in Title 48, Code of Federal Regulations, Chapter 1 (49.00). The foregoing publication may be obtained by sending your check or money order only, no cash or stamps, to:

Superintendent of Documents
U.S. Government Printing Office
Washington, DC 20402-9371

In an effort to be certain this important information is widely disseminated, this notice is being included in all ED mail to the public. You may, therefore, receive more than one notice. If you do, we apologize for any annoyance it may cause you.

THE GOVERNMENT PERFORMANCE AND RESULTS ACT (GPRA)

What is GPRA?

The Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (GPRA) is a straightforward statute that requires all federal agencies to manage their activities with attention to the consequences of those activities. Each agency is to clearly state what it intends to accomplish, identify the resources required, and periodically report their progress to the Congress. In so doing, it is expected that the GPRA will contribute to improvements in accountability for the expenditures of public funds, improve congressional decision-making through more objective information on the effectiveness of federal programs, and promote a new government focus on results, service delivery, and customer satisfaction.

How has the Department of Education Responded to the GPRA Requirements?

As required by GPRA, the Department of Education has prepared a strategic plan for 1998-2002. This plan reflects the Department's priorities and integrates them with its mission and program authorities and describes how the Department will work to improve education for all children and adults in the U.S. The Department's goals, as listed in the plan, are:

- Goal 1: Help all students reach challenging academic standards so that they are prepared for responsible citizenship; further learning, and productive employment.*
- Goal 2: Build a solid foundation for learning for all children.*
- Goal 3: Ensure access to postsecondary education and lifelong learning.*
- Goal 4: Make the Department of Education a high performance organization by focusing on results, service quality, and customer satisfaction.*

The performance indicators for the International Education Programs are part of the Department's plan for meeting Goal 3: Ensure access to postsecondary education and lifelong learning.

What are the Performance Indicators for the International Education Programs?

The Department's specific goal for the International Education Programs is "to meet the nation's security and economic needs through the development of a national capacity in foreign language, area, and international studies." The objective and performance indicators are as follows:

1. Maintain a U.S. higher education system able to produce experts in less commonly taught languages and area studies who are capable of contributing to the needs of the U.S. government, academic and business institutions.
 - (1.1) Title VI supported institutions provide most of the instruction in less commonly taught languages.
 - (1.2) Percentage of graduates of Title VI supported programs report that they found employment that utilize their language and area skills.
